Subject: Expanding evacuatin zones around nuclear plants

May 23, 2012 (11:45 am)

OFFICE OF SECRETARY
RULEMAKINGS AND ADJUDICATIONS STAFF

This is really a no-brainer. Americans have a fantasy that nothing really bad can ever happen to us. Well, it can. Of course we should expand the evacuation zones around nuclear reactors and put in place the most stringent possible regulations to protect the public. Remember The Public? The people who pay for the government's protection? The people who elect governments and who pay for their lives when there's government incompetence?
