Dear Dr. Hancock:

It has come to our attention that Amendment No. 87 to your NRC Material License No. 24-00128-01 issued on May 23, 2012, contained an error.

Subitem No. 8.D. authorized 200 millicuries of strontium-90 in an ophthalmic applicator when it should have authorized only 120 millicuries, according to the Sealed Source and Device Registry (SSDR).

Enclosed is a corrected copy reflecting the correct authorization. We apologize for the error and for any inconvenience it may have caused you.

Please review the enclosed document carefully and be sure that you understand all conditions. If there are any errors or questions, please notify the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Region III office at (630) 829-9887 so that we can provide appropriate corrections and answers.

If you have any questions or require clarification on any of the information stated above, you may contact me directly at (630) 829-9841 or you may reach our administrative support staff at (630) 829-9887. My fax number is (630) 515-1078. My email address is colleen.casey@nrc.gov.

NRC's Regulatory Issue Summary (RIS) 2005-31 provides criteria to identify security-related sensitive information and guidance for handling and marking of such documents. This ensures that potentially sensitive information is not made publicly available through ADAMS, the NRC's electronic document system.

The NRC's Safety Culture Policy Statement became effective in June 2011.

While a policy statement and not a regulation, it sets forth the agency's expectations for individuals and organizations to establish and maintain a positive safety culture.

You can access the policy statement and supporting material that may benefit your organization on NRC's safety culture Web site at:

We strongly encourage you to review this material and adapt it to your particular needs in order to develop and maintain a positive safety culture as you engage in NRC-regulated activities.
