Documents Title in ADAMS)

7/12/2012 (13;45) Mr. Georgetti called and was transferred to me when it was determined that Scott Wilson was not in the office. I asked Mr. Georgetti to describe the current program. He stated that they have two Seaman C-200 gauges that have been in storage for a couple of years. The gauges each contain 4.5 millicuries of Ra-226. I requested that Mr. Georgetti determine when the gauges were last leak tested, when they were last used, and if the gauges had been used outside of the State of Connecticut. Mr. Georgetti stated that he doubted that the gauges had been used out of state because the company rarely works out of state. I informed Mr. Georgetti of the NRC taking over jurisdiction of NARM in 2009 and asked him if the state, the manufacturer, or the NRC had informed him of the change. Mr. Georgetti replied in the negative. I apprised Mr. Georgetti of the company's options of transferring the gauge to an engineering firm who have the gauge listed on its license, the manufacturer, or getting an NRC license. I provided him with a contact for fees if the company decides to keep the gauges and estimates of License fees, annual fees, and the small entity process. Mr. Georgetti stated that he would get back in touch with me once he has the information I requested.
