Subject: Peekskill resident wants Indian Point closed

Hello,

I am a Peekskill resident, engaged citizen and a concerned father and husband.

I believe Indian Point needs to be closed and closed quickly. We need to shutter the plant and find somewhere safe to store the spent fuel. I can think of many reasons why the plant should be closed and cannot think of one for why it should stay open. There are alternatives to the power supply. Jobs can be created in other, clean energy areas. There is really no reason to keep that plant open. It is an incredibly old plant and is in the vicinity of NYC. It is absurd that this is even a question.

- We don't need the power
- We don't need the risk to more than 20 million people within it's vicinity
- We don't need the laughable evacuation plan
- We don't need the more than 1 billion dead fish
- We don't need the large amount of radioactive waste
- We don't need the danger of having a plant on such a vital waterway
- We don't need the danger of having a plant on two fault lines
- We don't need the potential terrorist target
- We don't need the contaminated ground water
- We don't need the waste pumped into the Hudson
- We don't need the warmed Hudson water created by the plant

I could go on...

Sincerely,
Joe Crane-Messina
