Subject: Indian Point

That there is even a discussion about keeping Indian Point open, is both incomprehensible and criminal. Millions of people are in danger every day from this plant. There is NO evacuation Plan. Indian Point claims there is one for 10 miles. Come here any day and look at traffic on the roads. In the event of a disaster at Indian Point the county would become one huge parking lot. Indian Point's storage pools are already overfilled and are leaking radioactive water into the ground and the Hudson River. New York City's drinking water reservoir is less than 15 miles from Indian Point. And, now United Water is actually proposing having us drink water from the Hudson River, knowing full well the process they intend to use will not remove tritium. Indian Point is the most likely plant in the nation to experience damage due to an earthquake. The NRC has already given Indian Point so many safety waivers that no one even knows the total count. How can any one on this commission sleep at night?
