This refers to the conversation between Rita Gentilcore and Jennifer Bishop in August 2012, regarding the upcoming changes to the financial assurance regulations.

On June 17, 2011, the Commission issued amended rules for financial assurance for decommissioning. The following changes will affect your license:

Decommissioning Funding Plans must be submitted to the NRC for review during license renewals and at intervals not to exceed three years.

Part 20 regulations have been amended to now include radioactivity in subsurface areas.

The only prepayment financial assurance instruments that will be allowed under the amended regulations are trust funds. Escrows accounts, government funds, certificates of deposits, and deposit of government securities cannot be used under the amended regulations.

The final rules become effective on December 17, 2012. Please review Federal Register Notice Volume 76, Number 117, pages 35512-35575 for more information.
