Chris, Ed;

We are preparing a FAQ on this, but some have requested a more rapid turn-around since they are currently preparing their reports. Could you give me a quick answer to the following two questions? I will follow up with an FAQ.

1. Should the debris and dynamic load analysis be documented in response to part (b) of the reevaluation report(results from the reevaluation of flood hazards) or only in the report that submits the integrated assessment? Some believe that if debris and dynamic effects are not in the CLB, there is nothing to compare the analysis to and therefore the debris and dynamic effects evaluation result should be reported as part of the IA.
2. Do debris and dynamic loads factor into the IA trigger? In other words, if the current design basis flood hazard bounds the reevaluated hazard for all flood causing mechanisms, but the CLB is silent on debris and dynamic loads, would this trigger an IA?

Thanks.
