COMMENT:

I am a Newe person, now called Western Shoshone. The Native people now called Goshute are also Newe. That is one of the reasons I am so strongly opposed to the storage of Nuclear Waste. I also live only a few hundred miles from the Skull Valley storage facility.

It is inappropriate for NRC, in this GEIS, to use the Private Fuel Storage (PFS), LLC "centralized interim storage" proposal, targeted at the Skull Valley Goshutes Band of Indians in Utah, as a model for away-from-reactor storage. Although licensed by NRC for construction and operation, PFS was canceled in December 2012. NRC claims in its GEIS to observe Environmental Justice (EJ) principles, and yet PFS was a blatant violation of EJ. Nearly 500 organizations across the U.S. joined with Skull Valley Goshute traditionals urging NRC to disapprove PFS's license, due to its inherent violation of EJ.
