Subject: Extension of comment period NRC-2012-0246
Date: Monday, October 21, 2013 6:22:48 PM

Since the current comment period ends November 27, 2013, since public hearings are currently scheduled for as late as November 20, and since several public hearings have not yet been set, the Commission should extend the deadline for written comments on the waste confidence rule. The deadline for written comments should be at least thirty days after the final public hearing. Also, to facilitate written comments, the Commission should make transcripts or recordings of each of the public hearings available to those wishing to refer to oral comments in their written comments--an ample time before the conclusion of the written comment period.
