Subject: Waste Confidence process

Dear Sirs:

Waste Confidence is an outrageous euphemism for the disposal of our nation's most toxic and long-lived materials!

In my view, there can be no confidence in the treatment of such waste unless the production of more waste has already stopped. But nuclear power plants continue to produce radioactive waste.

In the event of an accident such as occurred as Fukushima, there will be tons and tons MORE waste and no feasible place to put it. In view of such danger, generating more waste merely in order to power our shopping malls and electronic devices seems to me to be madness.

Re-licensing old power plants is also questionable and should not be approved.

It's time we stopped taking gigantic risks with the future safety of the planet and began to make the health of the environment and the well being our human populations our highest priority.

Thank you.
