

9.2.6 Condensate Storage Facilities

The condenser hotwell provides the available condensate storage capacity. The condensate makeup is delivered from the demineralized water distribution system (DMDS) to the hotwell. None of the users of condensate depend on the hotwell for safety-related functions or backup.