Subject: revision of SS&D certificate GA-645-S-101-S

Joe,

I am in the process of bringing the TheraSeed SS&D registry certificate up to date.

The current certificate indicates an address of 900 Atlantic Drive (just a bit old), and references testing points after irradiation. I believe this refers to the old method of production prior to cyclotron operation.

I cannot remember the status of implementation of process improvements (automation) of the assembly process. To aid in the development of an accurate certificate, please provide a quick summary of the current assembly process.

If response to this includes confidential information (and I'm pretty sure it will), please do not reply to this email. Instead, submit a letter to the Program, including a redacted copy for inclusion in the public files.

If you have any questions, please let me know. Also, I will be out of the office from August 26 through August 31.

Sincerely,

Eric T. Jameson
