Patti, would you please provide the technical references to substantiate the NRC's high burnup claims in your letter. The documentation we provided the NRC does not match the NRC's claims. We even included NRC references that conflict with the claims in your letter.

I think Donna did a wonderfully succinct job of asking NRC to support their claims with documentation, as we have done – no muss, no fuss. Donna, your instincts and your thorough knowledge of the subject served you (and us all) well.

Unless anyone has more to say to Macfarlane in response, before (hopefully) receiving the references Donna requested, I feel really good about Donna's reply. Well done, and thanks for your quick action on this, and for all the good you do.

Best wishes to all for an especially pleasant weekend.
