SUMMARY

I contacted Gary Buckrop regarding their decommissioning financial assurance "statement of intent". Buckrop stated that they had submitted an update in December 13, 2012. The updated version lowers the decommissioning financial assurance "statement of intent". According to the NRC this update has not been reviewed because of a decommissioning project that needs to be completed. Therefore, the "old" decommissioning financial assurance document is still in effect. Since the possession limits have not changed from the previous license, there is no need for a new decommissioning financial assurance document.
