Subject: My opinion

We live about six miles from Turkey Point.. I don't go to bed at night wondering if the system will go bad but I do think about the possibilities once in a while.. I did know TP was there when I bought my second house in this area and I am not opposed to this kind of energy.

However, I am strongly opposed to the stand that Florida's big energy firms have taken on solar energy. Florida is the sunshine state, it says everywhere we go.. Yet we are behind many northern states in encouraging solar as a serious power source and I feel that is mostly due to FPL and Duke doing everything they can to keep solar out of this state. Some companies are offering to lease panels to homeowners which is being opposed by our energy firms in this state..

If there is a cleaner, cheaper way to produce electricity I have not heard of it.. It should be everywhere in this state.. We should set the pace for the entire country..

Sincerely,

David L. DeMent
