With all due respect to all involved in the decision making for the Turkey Point Nuclear Expansion, why do you have to put two more reactors in such close proximity to neighborhoods, schools, hospitals etc?

We can not believe that there is not a remote place (still many in Florida) to build these things. Also we wonder how the Citizens Safety and Protection agency feels about this and what would happen if they were contacted by all of us who will be affected if, God forbid, anything were to happen at Turkey Point.

Has anyone considered the raising of the ocean waters? How will that affect the nuclear reactors? This should be another concern.

My husband and I are totally opposed to FP&L's plans to build TWO NEW NUCLEAR REACTORS at Turkey Point.

It is inevitable to have problems. To be defeated by them is optional.
