1. We have broken down the file TNPP Marine Seismic 5-1-2015 into 10 Parts, which resides in a new folder called TNPP Marine Seismic Examples 5-1-2015 (10 Parts) under the Technical Support Documents under the Supporting Documentation for RAI Question 02.05.01-34.
2. File 251-34 Summary Discussion 4-30-15 READ FIRST, file size is less than 1mb, so I am not sure why this one is creating a problem. I was able to access this document myself in the electronic reading room. However, we will also break this document into several files to see if that helps.
3. Finally, we are exploring several options to make a hard copy of these 2 documents available to the staff. We are in the process of trying to make those arrangements now and will give you an update by Noon.

Thanks

Steve: These are some of the problems about the information related to reading room files. Please can you address them.

1. I am having trouble opening the file “TNPP Marine Seismic Examples 5-1-2015”. The file is very large (~21 MB). I am having a hard time opening and keeping the file open. We get an error message when the file is attempting to load that something is wrong with the pdf file or the viewing window gets hung-up and my browser quits. When I get into the file on rare occasion as soon as I start paging through it the browser quits. I tried accessing the site with my own personal computer, still no luck. The call to Deal Interactive help desk also could not figure it out. The file failed to open because access was denied.

2. The other important file in the latest round of files in the reading room is the 251-34 Summary Discussion 4-30-15 READ FIRST. The problem at this point is that it cannot be comfortably viewed by the staff and therefore review these 2 very important, large complex files within the reading room window because access all the navigation and viewing tools that Adobe Acrobat Pro provides in its own application environment. The one file is so large and bandwidth so uncertain that it is a struggle to open and read the file.

We need to see these DRAFT files on a submitted pdf before we can have public meeting. We need to see before we can formulate our own questions.

Please give this issue your highest attention.

Thanks
