International Atomic Energy Agency Technical Working Group on Nuclear Power Plant Instrumentation and Control Meeting in Vienna, Austria

During the week of May 25-29, 2015, staff traveled to Vienna, Austria, to represent the Nuclear Regulatory Commission at the 25th Meeting of the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) Technical Working Group on Nuclear Power Plant Instrumentation and Control (TWG-NPPIC). The primary purpose of the TWG-NPPIC is to provide advice and support to the IAEA in program planning and implementation. The TWG-NPPIC is the oldest of the IAEA TWGs and meets once every other year. Forty-four participants from nineteen member nations and two international organizations attended this meeting. At the meeting, the planning process for the 2016–17 program was completed, and the U.S. delegation was able to negotiate four of our highest priority items onto the planning agenda for the next 2 years (diversity and defense-in-depth, safety aspects of computer security, commercial dedication of digital systems, and digital regulatory guidance harmonization).
