General Comment

Two analogous situations to show how Science is being "gamed" by our Government/NRC:

A. Imagine that our Government told us that their studies have shown that more sex is good for everyone because "it causes us no harm" and therefore we no longer have the personal freedom to decide:

- 1) How much sex we want
- 2) Who we can have sex with
- 3) What forms of sex we must accept
- 4) When we must start having sex

B. Everyone knows that a little sunlight (aka Solar radiation) is good for you but too much can cause many health problems including premature aging of the skin and different types of cancer. If the Government increased the amount of sunshine they said was acceptable, it could have negative health affects on many people, and especially those with fair skin.

With the Government and/or the NRC deciding that they can raise the "acceptable" radiation limits in our food, the air we breathe and everything else, they are treating us no differently than the laboratory test animals whose lives are controlled by the nuclear Industry.

The rule of thumb for everyone should be to accept no additional radiation unless you personally need it for some specific purpose, like an X-ray.

The idea that all of US should accept additional radiation dosage because it allows Big Nuclear to make Big Money is unacceptable!

Increasing allowable safety limits is nothing but a "gift" to the nuclear industry that allows them to increase the level of radioactivity over that that which is naturally occurring. Any addition (aka "pollution") that is man-made (coming from a reactor, weapons, manufacturing or nuclear waste storage) is not naturally occurring and should not be tolerated.

Changing the legal definition of the word man-made "pollution" does not make it "acceptable", it just highlights that our Government is now threatening the quality of our health to benefit the Nuclear Industry!
