

Fossil Springs and Past Groundwater Flow

Ancient springs leave mineral deposits that mark the location of prehistoric groundwater discharge during cooler, wetter periods in the past. These fossil spring deposits indicate where groundwater could discharge in the future under different climate conditions.

State Line Deposits
Nevada-California
Deposited by springs more than 30,000 years ago

