Subject: [External_Sender] RE: Proposed Words in BWRVIP-234 Draft Safety Evaluation
Attachments: BWRVIP-234 words NON-SEC.docx

Joe,

I reviewed the words currently being considered for the BWRVIP-234 SE that were provided in the encrypted (i.e., password protected) file titled, "BWRVIP-234 words SEC.docx" and found that they do not contain any EPRI proprietary information. Since the file does not contain proprietary information, I removed the encryption and attached the unencrypted version (I also inserted "NON-" in front of SEC in the title to reflect that it is now non-secure)

Thank you for providing the information. By copy of this email, I am forwarding the information to the BWRVIP's Project Manager for BWRVIP-234, Bob Carter, for his review (Bob is currently on foreign travel, but will be back in the office next week). After Bob's review, the BWRVIP will get back to the staff and let them know if the BWRVIP would like to set up public call or meeting to discuss the information.

Subject: [WARNING: MESSAGE ENCRYPTED]Proposed Words in BWRVIP-234 Draft Safety Evaluation

Chuck,

The staff is finishing its draft safety evaluation (SE) for BWRVIP-234. As part of our efforts, we wanted to provide you with some words that are currently being considered for the SE. The words that would be included in the SE and are attached. They are in an encrypted file in case there is proprietary information included. A password will follow via separate email.

As you know from our past discussions, the staff does not negotiate the findings in its SEs. However, because this action item included efforts from the BWRVIP in the "-A" version, we wanted to provide it to you in advance of the SE.

If you would like to discuss the wording, please let me know and we will schedule a public call or meeting on it.

I plan to put this email and attachment into ADAMS as public so stakeholders are also aware of the words. Please use brackets and highlight to identify any [proprietary information]. If there is any I will create two versions, one public and one nonpublic.

Joe
