Karen Silkwood Case Returns to Haunt Parents : Whistle-blower: The disclosure that Los Alamos lab has had her bone fragments since 1974 outrages family. A worker in a plutonium-processing plant, she died in a car crash while on her way to meet a reporter. She had promised to bring proof the plant was unsafe; no documents were in the car.

April 24, 1994 LAURA TOLLEY ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEDERLAND, Tex. — Almost 20 years have passed since plutonium plant whistle-blower Karen Silkwood died in a car crash on an Oklahoma highway, but her father can't put her mysterious death behind him.

Even if Bill Silkwood wanted to let go of the past, events won't let him.

He learned recently that Los Alamos National Laboratory in New Mexico had several bone fragments left behind from post-mortem testing done on his 26-year-old daughter, who thought she had been contaminated with radioactive plutonium.

UNITED STATES
NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D. C. 20555

FEB 26 1975

Mr. Clarence M. Kelley, Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Department of Justice
Washington, D.C. 20535

Dear Mr. Kelley:

Enclosed is a letter dated January 21, 1975, from a representative of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union (OCAW) alleging a violation of a Nuclear Regulatory Commission regulation. In addition to this allegation, we have been informed that other non-union employees have lost their jobs which could also represent a violation of this regulation. The allegations have been discussed with Mr. Tom Henderson, Management and Labor Section and Mr. Al Hantman, General Crimes Division, of the Department of Justice.

Based upon these discussions we have concluded that the Kerr-McGee Nuclear Corporation is in possible violation of 18 USC Section 1505 and Section 1510 and 10 CFR Section 19.16(c) and that these possible violations should be investigated by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, under the criminal provisions of 42 USC Section 2273, pursuant to 42 USC Section 2271(c).

In addition to the OCAW's letter of January 21, 1975, which is attached as Enclosure A, we are enclosing copies of the following documents which relate to this case:

- (1) A copy of a letter dated January 27, 1975, with attachment, from a representative of the OCAW wherein it is requested that the investigation of the contamination of Karen Silkwood be reopened to determine if she was intentionally contaminated. (Enclosure B) Such an investigation also appears to fall within the purview of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.
- (2) A copy of a Note to Files, with attachments, titled "Meeting With Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International - Working Conditions at Kerr-McGee Corporation, Crescent, Oklahoma". (Enclosure C). A list of names of Kerr-McGee Nuclear Corporation employees who attended the September 27, 1974, meeting with representatives of the AEC. (Enclosure D)
