RE: Control Change: BioStorage Technologies acquisition by Brooks Automation

Dear Applicable Parties:

It was announced last week that Brooks Automation, Inc. had entered into an agreement to acquire BioStorage Technologies. It is a merger, with Brooks acquiring 100% of existing BioStorage ownership stocks. The name will remain BioStorage Technologies. The acquisition is expected to close in December 2015 upon satisfaction of customary closing conditions and regulatory approvals. Upon acquisition close, the physical radioactive storage business will remain at the same address in Indianapolis and the Radiation Safety Officer (Thomas Schumacher) and Assistant Radiation Safety Officer (Russ Hager) will remain the same. Our current license information is below:

Current owner name: BioStorage Technologies
Current owner address: 2910 Fortune Circle West, Suite E, Indianapolis, IN 46241
Byproduct Material License No. 13-32622-01

Our radiation safety program and practices will continue uninterrupted with this change in ownership. The same controls and handling precautions will apply to all samples we receive and store. There is no change in location, processes, personnel, surveillance program, and record retention.

Please direct us in further steps for this control change and if you have any questions, or need further information or documentation, do not hesitate to contact Global Quality Assurance Director, Bryan Hudson at (317) 452-8513 or bryan.hudson@biostorage.com

Thank you for your assistance.

Sincerely,

Greg Swanberg, Chief Executive Officer
