Rationale for Revisions

Part E
Radiation Safety Requirements for Industrial Radiographic Operations

This regulation was last reviewed in 1999 when 10CFR34 was published on May 28, 1997 in Federal Register (62 FR 28948). This review will encompass any changes made to 10 CFR 34 since it was published. References will be removed relating to x-Ray machines with output less than 1MeV (machines not used to conduct industrial x-ray testing similar to the type of inspections conducted using radiographic cameras.) Requirements for x-ray machines with output less than 1 MeV will now be included in State Regulation Part H Radiation Safety Requirements for Analytical X-Ray Equipment. Reference to the new security requirements in 10CFR 37 will be included. Replace “film badge and TLD” with the term “personnel dosimetry” and insert NVLAP approval to account for other devices that are NVLP approved and are being used. Other paragraphs deleted due to applicability date ranges which no longer apply. Clarified that examination fees and what to do in the case of an applicant who fails to appear for the examination. Made grammatical changes.
