Sirs:

I am appalled by the continuing efforts by Uranium mining outfits to risk contamination of land and air and especially water sources. Nuclear power is on the wane, existing supplies are ample of decades, there still is no safe storage of spent rods, water sources near existing uranium mines remain contaminated and available bonds for remediation are too inanequate to be takes seriously.

There are many strikes against this kind of mining. Please take these detrimental aspects of uranium mining to heart when making your decision.

Sincerely,

Gardner Gray
