Subject: [External_Sender] The Brady Unescorted Access Letter

Mr. Chairman,

Many of America's nuclear workers are represented employees, who by the language in their contracts are given the right to arbitrate grievances against their employer. Leaving the issue of unescorted access solely in the hands of the employer undermines one of the main principles of organized labor. Eliminating the arbitration process where plant access is concerned will lead to workers losing their jobs. Employers could end someone's career over something as minor as a personality conflict. Please disapprove SECY-15-0149.

Thank You,

Christopher E. Ericksen
