SUB-526, Docket No. 40-3392

RE: Alternate Financial Assurance Documents

Honeywell has enclosed letters of credit from five banks that provide the required decommissioning financial assurance for the Metropolis Works facility. These letters of credit, effective June 4, 2016, replace the existing self-guarantee. The sum of the amounts of the letters of credit meets the required decommissioning financial assurance amount, which is the currently-approved MTW decommissioning cost estimate ($197,354,356).

|-------------------------------------------------|--------------|
| • MUFG, Bank of Tokyo Mitsubishi UFJ, NY Branch | $80,000,000 |
| • Intesa SanPaolo S.p.A.                        | $40,000,000 |
| • Credit Agricole Corporate & Investment        | $40,000,000 |
| • Standard Chartered Bank                       | $20,000,000 |
| • UniCredit Bank AG, NY Branch                  | $17,354,356 |

Honeywell has enclosed a certification of financial assurance. Honeywell also has enclosed three partially-executed copies of an amendment to the existing standby trust agreement to reflect the change in the form of financial assurance. We request that the NRC sign and retain one original. The other two also should be signed by the NRC and then returned to Honeywell. Honeywell will then provide one of the executed copies to the trustee. Please send the standby trust amendment documents and the cancelled self-guarantee to Mark Wolf, Nuclear Compliance Director.

Should you have any questions, or require additional information, please contact Mr. Wolf at (618) 309-5013.

Sincerely,

John Albritton
Plant Manager
