SECTION C - Description/Specifications

Statement of Work for Evaluation of License Amendment Request

Statement of Work for Technical Support to Evaluate License Amendment Request Submitted for Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) Staff Evaluation

1. PROJECT TITLE

Technical Support to Evaluate License Amendment Request for Massachusetts Institute of Technology Reactor Protection System environmental qualification.

2. BACKGROUND

The U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC), Office of Nuclear Reactor Regulation (NRR), Division of Engineering is responsible for the evaluation of license amendment requests (LARs) submitted by license holders proposing digital safety equipment for use in U.S. based nuclear non-power reactors. The NRR staff evaluation seeks to determine the degree of compliance of the proposed subject with applicable regulations, and to make a reasonable assurance determination that the health and safety of the public would not be adversely affected by the appropriate implementation of that subject scope. The NRR staff's SE shall form a part of the final approved version of the LAR.

Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) submitted a LAR to replace the Reactor Protection System (RPS) with new fission chambers detectors, new analog pre-amplifiers their corresponding new digital neutron flux monitors made by Mirion, a new solid-state analog two-out-of-four scram digital logic system and interface circuits. The proposed amendment requested NRC's review and approval of the proposed design. A supplement LAR was submitted on 6/6/2014 (Agencywide Document Access and Management System (ADAMS) Accession Number ML14161A035 and ML14161A036). The NRC staff is currently performing a review of this LAR, including its multiple supporting documents.

3. OBJECTIVE

The objective of this effort is to obtain technical support to the NRC staff by conducting evaluations of assigned LAR reference documents, evaluate the submitted materials against the appropriate regulations and guidance, and provide SE input covering the assigned subject matters to the staff's final SE.

4. SCOPE OF WORK

The initial scope of this LAR evaluation is to support the staff of the Instrumentation and Controls Branch (I&C) of the NRR Division of Engineering in its detailed non-power review of the MIT digital RPS design against the applicable criteria described in NUREG-1537 Part 1 and 2 latest version. To augment the NRC staff's effort, a section of the design evaluation is to be performed by the contractor. In this initial LAR evaluation the contractor shall evaluate portions of the environmental qualification for the MIT identified conditions. These normal identified conditions for the RPS include those resulting from anticipated operational occurrences, as applicable, for temperature, pressure, radiation, relative humidity, Electromagnetic Interference / Radio-Frequency Interference (EMI/RFI), power surge environment, and operational cycling, and maximum hypothetical accidents to which the equipment is qualified.

The NRC staff personnel will concentrate on the digital systems hardware and software development issues, real-time performance, independence, and support of on-line surveillance requirements as demonstrated through MIT's equipment verification, validation, and qualification efforts. It should also be noted there is a regulation variation between non-power reactors and power reactors. Non-power reactors can be designed and operated so that postulated accidents pose risks to the facility or the public that are not as significant or within applicable power reactor regulatory limits. Older research and test reactor SEs will be provide to provide how intense the review should be conducted.

5. SPECIFIC TASKS

Task 1: Project Familiarization Phase and Kick-off Meeting

This task shall include reviewing the submitted materials to be evaluated and becoming familiar with the specific scope of work expected. The contractor shall identify the applicable regulatory criteria that will serve as the bases for the evaluation and acceptance of the proposed design. The contractor shall attend a kick-off meeting/teleconference with the Contracting Officer's Representative (COR), the Technical Monitor, NRC staff Project Manager and Technical Lead to discuss the details of this initial task order scope prior to initiating any detailed LAR evaluation work. During the kick-off meeting, the NRC staff Technical Monitor and Technical Lead shall also outline expectations as to which SE Report Sections shall become due by which dates and milestones to be performed in Tasks 2 and 3.

The deliverable required under this task will be a Letter Report identifying the specific chapters, pages, and sections of the LAR that will be evaluated, the due date, the list of appropriate LAR reference documents that are to be evaluated, and a statement as to which NRC regulatory criteria will be used for the evaluation of each topical area. The topical areas for this initial LAR evaluation will include the evaluation of the environmental (radiation, ambient temperature, humidity, ambient pressure, smoke), seismic, electrical isolation capability, ESD, and EMI/RFI performance of the assigned equipment to be evaluated and any proposed isolation devices that are implemented to maintain independence of the safety equipment from other redundant or non-safety equipment. The draft safety evaluation outline shall be transmitted by way of email, and comments to the draft documents and specific cited material can be shared on a common shared server. This deliverable shall be completed with 7 days of the Task Order Award.

Task 2: Detailed Evaluation of Environmental, Seismic, and EMI/RFI Qualification Performance

This task shall include performance of a detailed review and evaluation of the submitted LAR materials assigned by the NRC. The initial review in Task 1 may find incomplete documentation or data, which is needed to complete the evaluation. In this situation the contractor shall document requests for additional information (RAI) and provide their recommendation to the NRC. RAIs should not be used as general information requests or as a means to encourage commitments from licensees. (See LIC-101) Upon review of the RAI(s) the evaluation shall continue and include a detailed comparison of this material against the applicable review criteria identified, and preparation of assigned draft sections of the NRC staff's SE. The contractor's draft evaluation materials shall be submitted for review and comment by the NRC.

The deliverable under this task will be a letter and draft report sections directed to the COR and I&C Branch Technical Monitor documenting the regulatory and environmental findings of the contractor's initial evaluation. The letter shall outline the specific scope agreed upon with the NRC to be completed within 30 days of the completion of Task 1 deliverable, unless otherwise specified at the Kick-off Meeting.

Task 3: Final Written Evaluation of Topical Report Submitted Materials

This task shall include incorporating the NRC staff's comments on the draft materials prepared under Task 2, and preparing final proof sections of the SE for review and incorporation by the NRC staff Technical Monitor/Team Lead into the final SE.

Deliverable under this task will be a letter and report sections directed to the COR and I&C Branch Technical Monitor/Project Lead documenting the contractor's results of the evaluation. The final deliverable is due no later than 12/11/15 (see Section 7 below) and will be monitored by project milestones identified during the Kick-off meeting.

6. APPLICABLE DOCUMENTS AND STANDARDS

The contractor shall evaluate the environmental and seismic qualifications and EMC aspects of the proposed design against the applicable criteria per the following standard review plan and supplemental design criteria:

NUREG-1537, "Guidelines for Preparing and Reviewing Applications for the Licensing of Non-Power Reactors," dated 2015 contains format and content guidance for non-power reactors.

AEC-Q200 "Stress Test Qualification for Passive Components standard from the Automotive Electronics Council and relevant environmental KTA standards.

For non-power reactors with NUREG-1537 directions the suitability of a digital I&C system (including individual boards that function together to serve as a platform) for use in safety systems depends on the quality of its components; quality of the design process; and comprehensiveness of its equipment qualification, along with consideration of system implementation characteristics such as real-time performance, independence, and support of on-line surveillance requirements as demonstrated through the digital I&C platform's verification, validation, and qualification efforts.

It is possible that certain elements of the subject equipment being described in the LAR may be composed of existing commercial off-the-shelf (COTS) digital I&C parts, such that certain industry guidelines that address dedication and qualification processes may be applicable. The NRC staff has determined that applicable criteria affecting environmental, seismic, and EMI/RFI evaluations of digital equipment designs are contained in the following reviewed and accepted industry guidance documents based on conditions established in previous SE reports.

- Electric Power Research Institute (EPRI) Topical Report (TR)-102323, "Guidelines for Electromagnetic Interference Testing in Power Plants," as accepted by the NRC SE dated April 30, 1996
- EPRI TR-106439, "Guideline on Evaluation and Acceptance of Commercial Grade Digital Equipment for Nuclear Safety Applications," as accepted by the NRC SE dated April 1997
- EPRI TR-107330, "Generic Requirements Specification for Qualifying a Commercially Available PLC for Safety-Related Applications in Nuclear Power Plants," as accepted by the NRC SE dated July 30, 1998

It should be noted that industry standards, documents, and reports use the word "requirements" to denote provisions that must be implemented to ensure compliance with the corresponding document. Additionally, these standards, documents, and reports provide guidance or recommendations that need not be adopted by the user to ensure compliance with the corresponding document, and the optional items are not designated as "requirements." The word "requirement" is used throughout the I&C discipline. However, licensee or vendor documentation of conformance to the "requirements" provided in industry standards, documents, and reports referenced in this SE only constitutes conformance with NRC regulatory requirements insofar as endorsed by the NRC. Furthermore, use of the word "requirements" in these documents does not indicate that the "requirements" are NRC regulatory requirements.

For the above listing of review plans, branch technical positions, industry codes and standards, and regulatory and industry guidance, the contractor scope pertains to the environmental, seismic, power supply fluctuation withstand capability, electrical isolation capability, ESD, and EMI/RFI only.

7. DELIVERABLES AND DELIVERY SCHEDULE
