RE: Waste Control Specialists license

Dear Committee;

I am writing you to voice our support for Waste Control Specialists licensing for storing spent nuclear fuel rods. Please put KACT Radio of Andrews Texas on record as being supportive of this licensing.

This is about more than just jobs for our community and a good company such as Waste Control Specialists, who is a good corporate citizen, that has been forthright about informing our community of what they do, since arriving here and starting operations over 20 years ago. This is about solving a national problem.

The people of Andrews County have been at the forefront of the worlds energy needs since finding oil here in the 20's. Andrews is no stranger to hazards, its people work with hazards everyday in the oilfield.

It makes good sense to take these things that the generators want to be done with and put them together in a place where they can be watched over, cared for and "managed".

Waste Control Specialists is the company to do that. I am pleased with the safeguards that WCS will have in place.

The community of Andrews has built a great relationship with Waste Control Specialists. Andrews citizens including myself, have attended countless meetings, and hearings through the years, to stay apprised of their operation.

With all of the customers that I deal with and the people I come in contact with, I have not heard one word against Waste Control Specialists or this licensing. I attended the NRC public comment meeting in Andrews, along with my wife Jessica, who owns Wilcox Insurance Agency in town, and our 13 year old granddaughter. I felt that the comment meeting was "railroaded" by those strangers who show up at these things, that think that they know whats better for us than we do. Those people were strangers that don't live here.

I think that in the future it should be a requirement that when they state their name for the record, they should have to state where they live.

Thanks in advance for your consideration, and lets license this and take this step to start managing this material.

Sincerely,
