Gentlemen:

Enclosed are several news reports, including pictures of the hundreds of thousands of people on the beaches at Hampton Beach, even as early as June. These people are in their bathing suits and suntan lotion, some sleeping in the sun, playing with their children, etc.

When Seabrook nuclear plant goes on line, these people, many who have come here for years, and their families for generations, will not know if or when the sirens will blow. How will they know where to go, to Manchester or somewhere, and how will they all be able to get out safely, before they are contaminated. These people come from Canada, New York, all over New England, the country and the world.

As a former beach ^{MOTEL} hotel owner, now retired and living in the Town of Hampton, I beg you to consider what you are doing to those of us who live here and to these people, as well as to our economy when they stop coming because of Seabrook.

Very sincerely yours,
Roland A. Soucy
