Dear Mr. Bechhoefer:

I am enclosing the muc-too-long-delayed affirmation of the ECNP responses to Applicant's Interrogatories. Your willingness to accept the delay due to illness is much appreciated. The illness has dragged on, recurring in consequence of my unusually heavy schedule this past month, and it has been characterized by the constant feeling of exhaustion, such that I have spent far more of the rare time at home in bed than I can remember in a long while.

I had not anticipated that there would be any delays associated with finding a notary public here in our small college community, but to my amazement and chagrin, on the Saturdays when I have been in town to attend to the matter, none of the notaries I know of were available. That's the sort of logistical problem the people in our situation find so frustrating. A copy of this affirmation is being served today on counsel for the Applicant, and copies to the other parties will accompany ECNP's filing of responses to Applicant's February 4th Motion tonight or tomorrow, depending on availability of copying facilities. I trust that will be satisfactory.

Sincerely,

Judith H. Johnsrud
