Hello,

I'm writing to voice my opposition to the proposal to reduce or eliminate emergency planning zones around new nuclear reactors, including the proposed NuScale reactors in Idaho.

The emergency planning rule for NuScale should be identical to any other nuclear reactor. There is no evidence to suggest that, despite their size, the new reactors are more safe than the old reactors — we simply don't know yet.

We rely on the Nuclear Regulatory Commission to keep us safe. Please put the people of Idaho before the business interests of NuScale.

Thank you,
Julie Hahn
