SUMMARY

Mr. Padilla was contacted on June 1, 2017 to ask for clarifying information regarding portable nuclear gauges listed on their license. The request was made to facilitate updating the license in accordance new policy requirements that specify possession limits by device and source manufacturer as opposed to by the byproduct, source, or special nuclear material requested.

During the conversation Mr. Padilla confirmed that Alfred & Benesch Company currently own one Troxler gauge, and rents two additional gauges throughout the year. As the same gauges are not always used or available, Mr. Padilla requested that their license allow for rental of up to two of the following gauges:

Troxler 3411 or 3400 series portable gauges

InstroTek 3500 portable gauges

Campbell Pacific Nuclear MC Series portable gauges
