I am writing with deep concern for the NuScales proposal to shrink the emergency planning zones, for all SMRs and other new reactors. I believe it is extremely important that the rules should protect public health in light of any nuclear reactor accident. The new reactors have not been tested and proven to be safer and the public should be protected the same as for any other reactor. The proposed rule puts the public at risk because a single small reactor is capable of a large release and the nuclear industry needs the same extended boundaries for the public protection.

Thank You.
