Subject: [External_Sender] RE NuScale reactor proposal...

My comments:

Any rules should be strong enough to protect the public - and a "small" reactor is still a nuclear reactor with inherent risks. The emergency planning rules need to be the same for -any- type/size of reactor; and until different types are -proven- safer, they should certainly not be treated as safer on the sayso of someone in the industry.

Thank you for keeping public safety at the forefront.
