General Comment

I was diagnosed with thyroid cancer in 2011 after I had been misdiagnosed or under diagnosed. I had my thyroid removed and it was 6 times the normal size of a thyroid because it was covered in cancer. First I have to wait for the thyrogen injection to become available in the US from back order then I had to figure out a way to have my kids go to all different people's houses because I had to stay home because the hospital said insurance didn't pay for me to be quarantined. I was putting my family in danger and that's not my fault I had cancer but I felt like I was being punished for getting the treatment.
