Enclosed please find a document which was prepared by NUTECH in support of our ongoing piping configuration verification program. This document details how NUTECH screens potential discrepancies to determine the likelihood of their meeting a more formal operability criteria. The screening also establishes a priority basis for which the identified discrepancies are evaluated as part of the formal operability assessment. This document is provided for your information in support of your review of the ongoing program.

Please direct any questions you may have regarding this matter to this office.

Very truly yours,
