Dear Mr. Ferguson:

We presently have under review almost thirty applications for operating licenses. For your application, as well as most others, we are committing resources to assure that staff reviews are completed on an accelerated schedule. To assure proper allocation of resources, it is important that you provide us a realistic and up-to-date projected construction completion date. Because of manpower limitations, each review will be scheduled to fall in a "window" of time wherein our reviews must be completed. An unexpected change of your completion date or your ability to provide needed information in accordance with this schedule will likely have an impact on the schedule for your review.

Table 1 of the enclosed "Bevill Report", which was provided to Congress on May 29, 1981, provides schedules based on your latest official estimate of completion of construction. In forwarding that report, we informed Congress that a meeting to discuss your new preliminary schedule is planned for late in June 1981 and that after that meeting, which is scheduled for June 26, 1981, the review schedule would be modified as necessary. We look forward to this meeting in order to establish a new realistic completion date for scheduling purposes. Upon establishing that new completion date, you should also update your schedule on a quarterly basis thereafter until issuance of the Safety Evaluation Report for the facility.

Your cooperation is appreciated.

Sincerely

1. The first step in the process is to identify the problem or issue that needs to be addressed. This involves gathering information and understanding the context of the problem.

2. Once the problem is identified, the next step is to define the objectives and goals of the project. This helps to clarify what needs to be achieved and provides a clear direction for the team.

3. The third step is to develop a plan or strategy to address the problem. This involves breaking down the problem into smaller, manageable tasks and determining the resources needed to complete each task.

4. The fourth step is to implement the plan. This involves putting the strategy into action and monitoring progress to ensure that the project is on track.

5. The final step is to evaluate the results of the project. This involves assessing the outcomes against the objectives and goals and identifying any areas for improvement.
