The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be supported by a valid receipt or invoice. This ensures transparency and allows for easy verification of the data.

In the second section, the author details the various methods used to collect and analyze the data. This includes both manual and automated processes, highlighting the challenges of data integration from multiple sources.

The third part of the document focuses on the results of the analysis. It shows a clear trend of increasing activity over the period, which is consistent with the overall market conditions.

Appendix A
 Appendix B

The following table provides a summary of the key findings from the study. It shows that the majority of the data points are within the expected range, indicating a high level of accuracy in the collection process.

Additionally, the analysis reveals that there are several areas where the data is less consistent, which may be due to external factors or errors in the reporting process. Further investigation is required to identify the root causes of these discrepancies.

Overall, the study demonstrates the value of a systematic approach to data collection and analysis. By following the outlined procedures, it is possible to obtain reliable and actionable insights from complex datasets.

Dear Ms. Diggs:

Enclosed is a check for payment of the application fee for our letter AEP:NRC:0775N dated October 18, 1984. At the time this letter was sent it was not believed that the extension of a deadline was subject to the fees in 10 CFR 170. Subsequent to your letter, dated December 21, 1984, our rereview of the matter indicates that the fee is applicable. Therefore, we remit the required application fee of $150.00.

This document has been prepared following Corporate procedures which incorporate a reasonable set of controls to insure its accuracy and completeness prior to signature by the undersigned.

Very truly yours,

M. P. Alexich <sup>9/10/85</sup>
