General Comment

Under Training and Experience for Authorized Users on pages 6 and 7, A.3.i.a. refers to ABR and AOBR certification in Diagnostic Radiology and A.3.i.b. refers to subspecialty certification in Interventional Radiology. The ABR stopped issuing this certification and subspecialty certification in October 2017 and replaced them with a IR/DR certification: <https://www.theabr.org/interventional-radiology/initial-certification/ir-dr-cert-conversion>. Please update the Guidance to reflect this in A.3.i. and in footnote 2. As of 1/29/18 the AOBR has not also made this change, but it would be helpful if the revised Guidance included wording that was flexible enough to allow approving new AU's if it happened between revisions of the Guidance.
