General Comment

I think it makes sense to ensure that radioactive materials can be safely stored for 1000 years. While I don't think that I will live that long, it's possible that some other humans will still be alive. I mean, assuming that President Tiny Hands doesn't lead us into a nuclear war. So I back this proposal.

By the way, who was your favorite character in Stanley Kubrick's film Dr. Strangelove? This is a tough one since there are so many standout performances, but I have to go with Slim Pickens as Major Kong.
