Dear NRC staff,

There is no such thing as "clean" anything when it comes to radioactive nuclear power. We need actual clean energy from sun, wind and water, not sources that will remain highly toxic and be rendered impossible to clean up for thousands of years. And if the ill-advised plan for more reactors is carried out, then most certainly evacuation plans are necessary. Think Fukushima. Think Three-Mile Island. Think Chernobyl. Accidents happen. Period. Please invest in a wise and renewable future. Not another disastrous melt-down-waiting-to-happen.

Do not allow the siting of experimental Small Modular Reactors (SMRs) at the Clinch River site in Oak Ridge, Tennessee.

Thanks for your thoughtful, level-headed, sane attention to this matter.

Sincerely, P. Galbavy
