Good morning Mr. Quackenbush,
Thank you for your response. We are not aware of any archeological work conducted for this project. The only information we have is what the Wisconsin Historical Society provided. At this time, no permits have been issued by the State to the licensee because no land-disturbing work is planned for the area within the burial mound site. However, we have made sure the licensee – LaCrosse Solutions, is aware of the state’s requirements. We have reviewed the licensee’s procedure which states that LaCrosse Solutions would notify the NRC immediately if artifacts are found during land-disturbing activities.

Sincerely,
Jessie Quintero

Good morning Jessie Quintero,

The Ho-Chunk Nation of Wisconsin (THPO) has reviewed the above-referenced project undertaking known to us as, “La Cross Boiling Water Reactor” located Vernon County, Wisconsin, and as afforded by the National Historic Preservation Act (NHPA – Section 106 compliance) we will make comment as the following: We at this time, have no known culturally sensitive sites and/or traditional cultural properties (TCP) within the area of potential effects of your proposed undertaking, other than those. If you have had any archaeological work conducted specific to this project, we do request to receive a copy of this material as well.

Lastly, please be aware that we wish to remain as an interested party throughout the duration of this proposed undertaking.

If inadvertent finds concerning cultural resources such as pottery, shards, historic/pre-historic artifacts or bone fragments/human remains occur during the process involved with this project, please stop all work and contact the necessary agencies immediately. Subject: REQUEST: Review of Determinations re: La Crosse Boiling Water Reactor in Vernon County, Wisconsin

Dear Mr. Quackenbush,

I hope you are doing well. I wanted to share a courtesy copy of a letter we sent to your office last week. The Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) is reviewing a license termination plan (LTP) for the La Crosse Boiling Water Reactor (LACBWR) located in Vernon County, Wisconsin. The LTP lays out the remaining activities to be completed in order for the license to be terminated by the NRC. The LACBWR has not operated since 1987 and has been undergoing decommissioning since 2007. The site is also co-located with an operating fossil fuel plant, Genoa-3.

The NRC is sending you this letter to inform you of our determinations under Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act and for National Environmental Policy Act and to ask if you have any information to provide regarding those determinations. We are requesting a response within 30 days of receipt of the letter. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to reach out to me.

Sincerely,

Jessie Muir Quintero
