(b) USNRC Letter to YAEC dated October 10, 1979

Dear Sir:

Subject: Revised Yankee Rowe Emergency Plan

Enclosed with this letter is a revised emergency plan description for Yankee Rowe. This revision and submittal were requested in Reference (b).

This emergency plan represents a major revision to previously existing emergency arrangements and reflects extensive efforts to address the licensee emergency plan improvements desired by the Commission. This has taken the form of an upgraded Yankee Rowe emergency plan written in the format and addressing the applicable content requirements of Regulatory Guide 1.101, Revision 1. Within this format we have also addressed the licensee portions of the Emergency Planning Acceptance Criteria - Revision One.

The efforts to further refine this emergency plan and to properly interface it with plant emergency implementing and operating procedures and with Massachusetts, and Vermont state radiological emergency plans is currently underway. These interfaces are critical for an effective overall emergency planning arrangement for both inside and outside the plant. For this reason, the enclosed emergency plan represents a draft revision at this point in time. It will remain under review and will be held in draft status until the necessary interfaces with the procedures and state plans have been identified and completed and until the views of the NRC review team have been identified to us.

We trust this submittal complies with your request; however, should you have any questions, feel free to contact us.
