Dear Mr. President:

Since the near-tragedy of Three Mile Island, many people are taking a more critical look at nuclear power.

We call for a nuclear moratorium, to last until we can be given assurance of plant safety and until a safe, permanent method of nuclear waste disposal is developed.

We urge our government to adopt, during the present energy crisis, a program of energy conservation, asking our citizens to eliminate unnecessary use of energy, encouraging the use of public transportation, and regulating commercial use of power such as for advertising and illuminating buildings when not in use.

The technology for producing clean, renewable, and affordable sources of energy already exists.

We call on our government to institute a program of support for the economical production of gasahol for motor vehicles, for the production of solar power, wind power, and other proven alternative sources of energy.

We call on our government to make every effort to hasten the day when we shall need neither nuclear power nor fossil fuels.

Sincerely,

Eurie Fogle
Chairman, Social Concerns Committee
