The study group is considering a number of options for dealing with the issue. In considering these options, the study group is seeking effectiveness in dealing with the problems of construction during adjudication without undue damage to other regulatory objectives.

The Contractor shall carry out the following tasks:

1. Review materials and documents furnished by the NRC and supplemented by the participant's sources for the purpose of providing comments and discussion during the Construction During Adjudication Workshop.

Attend the one and one-half day workshop, which will be broken down into panel sessions, from approximately 9:00 AM to 5:00 PM on July 18, and from 9:00 AM to 1:00 PM on July 19, 1979, in Bethesda, Maryland, and provide comments and discussion on the questions and issues raised during the sessions.
3. No report in writing will be required from the Contractor. The verbatim transcript of the proceedings shall constitute the final report of each participant.
