Dear Mr. Berg:

Please excuse my delay in responding to your July 13, 1979 letter. I have been attempting to gather the information you requested.

I have enclosed two NRC publications which I believe address the majority of the questions you posed. The first publication is identified as NUREG-0380 and is entitled "Program Summary Report." I believe you would be particularly interested in Sections 1 - 3 of this report, as those sections detail the range of reactors currently operating, under construction, or planned.

The second publication I have enclosed is identified as NUREG-0327, Revision 1. This provides the listing of minor owners of nuclear units (through September 1978) which you requested in your letter.

I am afraid that this is the extent of NRC information on the matters in which you are interested. Since this Commission has no direct jurisdiction over non-nuclear sources of power generation, it does not, to the best of my knowledge, compile figures on generation mix. You are quite right in believing that this information would be more readily available from the Federal Power Commission, now the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC). I would suggest that you contact FERC in an attempt to obtain the missing FPC reports. For the current information you are seeking, I would suggest contacting any of the following sources at the Department of Energy: FERC, the Economic Regulatory Administration (ERA) or the Energy Information Administration (EIA). The address for all of the above would simply be Washington, D.C. 20426. The telephone number I have for the EIA is (202)-634-5694.

I hope this information I am providing herein will assist you in completing your study and that further contact with the Department of Energy will prove helpful.

Sincerely,
