Dear Mr. Calkins:

My letter to you of December 17, 1979 contained an error in the last paragraph of page 2. I made the statement that the only difference between normalized taxes and flow through taxes was the pattern of revenue requirements and not the total revenue requirements. That statement is incorrect, as flowing through a future tax benefit would result in decreasing the total revenue requirements. The statement concerning the changing pattern of revenue requirements is correct.

Regards,
