Mr. Joseph M. Hendri
Chairman, Nuclear Regulatory Commission

Dear Mr Hendri,

My sister and I have been retired over fifteen years and we are very much concerned about our spiraling living costs. Our recent heating oil delivery was priced at 70.9 cents a gallon. Your food costs are constantly on the rise.

We have been listening to all the pros and cons of nuclear generation since the T.M.I. accident. We have discussed this with many of our retired friends and most of us feel that OPEC oil problems make it important that we use nuclear plants to keep our electric bills from sky rocketing. This is important to us on fixed incomes

If our power company, Metropolitan Edison, follows your safety orders, we feel very strongly that this cheaper energy should be used in our country.

Respectfully yours;

Wm. J. Frankel
