Dear Ivan:

Having completed my second tour of duty at one of your training facilities, I want to thank you very much for making it possible for me to attend the week at the Tulsa facility and last Sunday's session at the BWR Training Center at Morris, Illinois. Both of these facilities are first class in my opinion and both have outstanding staffs. You can be very proud of both facilities and of the people who run them.

These training sessions have been very valuable for me in terms of understanding much more clearly how BWR's work and in how the assorted safety systems function. It is an experience that more of our people ought to have. I think I learned more about boilers in the relatively few days I have spent now at your two training centers than I have in many months of studies of documents and safety reports.

I hope to get to San Jose in September for part of the BWR Owners Training Conference there and will look forward to seeing you then.

Sincerely,

Joseph M. Hendrie
Commissioner
